With regard to House Bill No. 615, please let the House Journal reflect that I voted against the bill because of concerns regarding the constitutionality of the bill, the appropriateness of naming a book of religion as "the state book," and the possibility that passage of the bill would portray Tennessee in a negative light to the general public and to existing and prospective businesses. As the representative of Tennessee's 18th District, I do not believe that naming any book of religion as "the state book" is in the best interest of our State.
